Summary: basically this is what i came up with if captain keyes over reacted in prison while being held captive in the covenant cruiser, i got the idea from a movie...cookies to anyone who can guess what movie i got it from captain keyes over reacts in prison hey i know i know i havent updated in forever and im really sorry so i hope this makes up for not updating in forever, so i was watching a movie and a person over reacts in prison and it made me wonder what would happen if captain keyes acted like this while being held in the covenant cruiser in halo so here it is...ENJOY!

>Captain keyes over reacts in prison while master chief was heading towards the brig from which captain keyes was a marine being held in a cell across from keyes raised an eyebrow when keyes stood up and started banging his fists on the cell door and shouting causing the elite with the energy sword to turn and look

"YOU HEAR ME WARDEN! I HAVE THE RIGHT TO REMAIN SILENT! EVERYTHING I SAY CAN AND WILL BE HELD AGAISNT ME IN THE COURT OF LAW-" the elite walked over as he shouted more random things, just then a figure snuck in and pulled out a combat knife and slit the throats of the grunts sleeping and other brutes

"-AND I HAVE THE RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY TO PAL! AND IF I CANT AFFORD ONE THEN ONE MUST BE PROVIDED TO ME BY THE COURT!"

chief killed the elite with the energy sword by a blow to the back of the head with his assault rifle and he deactivated the cell doors and

keyes shouted

"NEVER MIND!"
